

N. P. THIRD PARTY PLAN LAUNCHED MOVE TO CANCEL NAVAL OIL LEASES IS MADE

COOLIDGE ACTS TO PROSECUTE CASES FOR U. S.

President to Select Democrat and Republican Lawyers To Take Charge

SENATE IN DEBATE

Consideration of Resolutions on Cancellation To Be Discussed

Washington, Jan. 28.—It was indicated today that former Interior Secretary Fall probably will not be able to testify tomorrow before the senate oil committee. Although it was said there had been no definite change in his condition the physicians regularly attending him called in several others and plans were made for issuance of a statement later regarding his illness.

Washington, Jan. 28. (By the A.P.)—Both the executive and legislative branches of the government moved today toward the common end of seeking annulment of the naval oil leases.

While President Coolidge was endeavoring to select two nationally known lawyers to take charge of the prosecution of suit, civil and criminal, the whole subject came up for discussion on the floor of the senate.

Before the President announced at midnight Saturday the administration's determination to act at once, Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, who has been foremost in pressing the oil inquiry had prepared and the investigating committee has endorsed in principle a resolution authorizing the executive to act and directing him to employ special counsel to take charge of the investigation.

This resolution is similar to one introduced Saturday by Rep. Garrett, Democratic leader in the house, which will be called upon to act on the Walsh resolution if it is adopted by the house. Mr. Garrett and other leaders anticipated little or no opposition to the resolution.

The investigating committee suspended its inquiry for the day because of the senate discussion.

Fall Said Ill

Albert E. Fall, who as Secretary of the Interior, signed the leases to Harry F. Sinclair and E. L. Dohney interests and Thomas Johnson, foreman of his ranch at Three Rivers, New Mexico, meanwhile here are here for examination by the senate committee with reference to various financial transactions mentioned in the testimony last week of Donhey, Archie Roosevelt, D. G. Wahlberg, Sinclair's former secretary, and J. W. Zevely, his personal counsel. Some doubt was felt whether Fall would be able to appear tomorrow as planned, since his physicians said it would be practically impossible for him to go before the committee today. He has been confined to the home of Zevely here since his arrival from New Orleans last week.

The Walsh substitute for the Caraway resolution which was made public last night charges that the Sinclair Teapot Dome lease was executed without authority "under circumstances indicating fraud and corruption." Senate action would be confined to the Teapot Dome transaction at this time, it was explained, because of the conditional offer by Dohney through his counsel to reconvey to the government the lease awarded to his company on the California reserve.

President's Statement

When it was announced Saturday night that President Coolidge would seek counsel from both the Democratic and Republican parties for possible criminal prosecutions, the White House made the following formal announcement:

"It is not for the president to determine criminal guilt or render judgment in several causes. That is the function of the courts. It is not for him to prejudge. I shall do neither. But when facts are revealed to me that require action for the purpose of insuring the enforcement of either civil or criminal liability, such action will be taken. That is the province of the executive."

"Acting under my direction, the department of justice has been observing the course of the evidence which has been revealed at the hearings conducted by the senatorial committee investigating certain oil leases made on naval reserves, which I believe warrants action for the purpose of enforcing the law and protecting the rights of the public. This is confirmed by reports made to me from the committee."

Will Prosecute

"If there has been any crime it must be prosecuted. If there has been any property of the United States illegally transferred or leased it must be recovered."

"I feel the public is entitled to the truth," Dr. Brinkley said.

WHERE SEVEN FIREMEN DIED

Flames, ice and blazing oil menaced firemen who fought this fire in a Pittsburgh (Pa.) oil refinery. Seven firemen died when a ladder collapsed, throwing them into a tank of burning oil, while sub-zero weather caused other dangers. The man on the wall is standing where the ladder broke down, carrying the firemen to death.

OVER $400,000 MAIL ROBBERY BRINGS YOUTH'S ARREST

Bishop, Brissman and Company's Audit Report Shows Heaviest on First Loans

STATEMENT ON BANK

Farm Loan and Bank of North Dakota Status Is Given By the Auditors

Delinquent interest and principal on farm loans made by the Bank of North Dakota amounted to $129,507.27 on November 7, 1923, according to the audit report of Bishop, Brissman and Company, submitted to the state board of auditors here today.

The money had been consigned from Spokane to the Missouri Trust Company.

The three students confessed, according to postoffice officials, and declared they had concealed the money under a bridge. The money was later recovered.

The robbery was accomplished early today by holding up of mail clerks by the youths.

HAIL ZONING PLAN OPPOSED BY CONVENTION

Williams County Leaguers Go on Record as Against Change-in-Rate Basis

WOULD KILL THE LAW?

Zoning of the state with different hail insurance rates in the various sections, as proposed by Commissioner of Insurance S. A. Olness and the hail insurance department, is opposed by the Nonpartisan League convention of Williams county, in resolutions adopted. Under the zoning system rates in eastern North Dakota would be lowered.

The system of zoning was to be incorporated in an initiated measure which the state hail insurance department planned to have presented to the people for a vote. It has been decided since by Mr. Olness to submit the proposed changes in the hail insurance law to the Nonpartisan League state convention here on February 6, in the belief that a representative body of farmers would accurately index the attitude of the people throughout the state on the proposed changes.

The report on the hail loan department, which is the first complete audit of this branch of the bank made public under its present administration, showed loans had been made totalling $11,083,800 11 and the average amount of the loans per acre is $12.52. The farm loan department is complimented for the manner in which it has kept its complicated records.

Entire Deficit Given

The entire deficit of the Bank of North Dakota, existing at the time the audit was closed, is placed at $123,998.35. The audit report shows a loss of $46,397.70 for the period from December 13, 1921 to December 31, 1922, a profit for the subsequent period ending November 7, 1923, of $214,820.65, much of it from premium on sale of bonds, or a net profit for the period of $178,422.66.

The audit report analyzes the profit and loss account as adjusted for the period December 13, 1921, to November 7, 1923, as follows:

DAUGHTER OF RESERVE HEAD IS SUICIDE

Boston, Jan. 28.—A finding of suicide was reported by acting Medical Examiner William E. Reddick yesterday in the case of Miss Margaret Elliott Hard, daughter of W. G. P. Harding, Governor of the "Federal" Reserve Bank of Boston. Miss Harding died at the Harding home last Saturday.

Ill health was the probable cause of suicide, Dr. Reddick said.

NO REPUBLICAN GOPHER PRIMARY

St. Paul, Jan. 28.—The legislature of Minnesota has provided no local machinery for the holding of a presidential primary, declared Charles E. Adams, chairman of the Republican state central committee, in a telegram sent to Senator Hiram Johnson of California, now at Washington.

The telegram was in reply to one received from Senator Johnson demanding that his candidacy for the presidency be submitted to primary election in Minnesota as defendants.

BRANCH BANK CASE WON BY STATE BODIES

Supreme Court of United States Gives Missouri the Right to Bar Them

MANY PARTICIPATED

Held That the Prohibition Does Not Conflict with Laws of United States

Washington, Jan. 28.—National banks are prohibited by the laws of Missouri from establishing branches, the supreme court held today in a case brought by the First National Bank of St. Louis. The opinion stated that the state law does not conflict with the United States.

The case was regarded as the most important before the high court dealing with the question of branch banking.

In many states, banks have been permitted to establish many branches. This is particularly true in California, where the Canadian system is followed of allowing the same bank to operate branches in the same city or other cities.

The state of Missouri prohibited national banks from doing this. Attorney-General of many states, including North Dakota, joined with the state of Missouri to oppose the branch banking system.

Health Advisory Council

Plans Unification and Amplification of Work

Unification and amplification of health conservation and prevention work in North Dakota is provided in the program outlined by the State Health Advisory Council in meeting here, which reviewed the first six months progress of the new department as reorganized by the last legislature.

A new director for the branch laboratory maintained at Bismarck under legislative appropriation was selected, who also will be able to give one-third of his time to the state health department in sanitary engineering work, which includes emergency instruction and aid in time of epidemics in investigation and prevention.

E. M. Knight, Connecticut man recommended by the International Health Board, will assume the directorship of the Bismarck laboratory, and Edwin M. Stanton, who has been alone in the laboratory, will be his assistant.

ELECTRICITY TOO CHEAP FOR METERS IS DREAM OF 'SUPER-POWER' LEADERS

W. H. Anderson, Superintendent of Anti-Saloon League, Testifies

New York, Jan. 26.—William H. Anderson, 44, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, continued his narrative of the $25,000 he was paid in an evaporative stranger in 1912 and 1913, and added to his account of the manner in which he impelled a stranger to whom he explained his secret to leave the city.

The story of the remarkable story was given in detail by Mr. Anderson who was on the witness stand in the heat and day in defense of the 60-year-old organization he helped found in Supreme Court, West of the City, was given in detail the examination of Assistant U. S. Attorney Peattie, a prosecutor who talked himself into a stupor of fatigue in his effort and had to leave the witness stand.

A portion of the Mr. Anderson's mysterious story was told by John T. Kline, a lawyer, a circuit court reporter, and his son, the 25,000 given was an added incentive of the story's test. It was in Anderson's mind, who sought a $24,700 fee, he had said he advanced to the league in 1912-13 for public purposes, and he spent all the time he had without a dollar in return except a receipt of a voucher, and without making an offering of any kind to the league super-poor.

Chamonix, France, Jan. 26.—In a P. A. P. The United States team first blood in the 1924 Olympic games took when Charles Jewell of Lake Placid, N. Y., won the 500-meter speed skating race.

Jewell defeated Goran of Canada in the 15th heat. His time of 44 seconds and 1/100th of a second beat skated and under the rules made him the winner of the event.

Joe Moore of New York defeated Erik Blomberg of Sweden in the first heat winning in 29 yards in 45.75 seconds.

Horace Kussey of Chicago beat M. Monch of Belgium winning the sixth heat in 17 seconds.

Willow Street team of Chicago beat Oscar Olson of Norway in the twelfth heat in 41.5 seconds.

Steinbeck of one was 17.45 seconds.

AT THE MOVIES

CAPITOL THEATER
What is beauty? Beauty is an individual concept of optical or spiritual delight. Beauty in motion pictures, however, embraces form, pathos, grace and artistry of setting and production as set forth in a story of sufficient interest to sway the imagination and stimulate the sex.

That's why the William Fox special, "The Temple of Venus," which comes to the Capitol Theatre on Monday for two days, ran an open and durable delight. It is a vivid story of pathos and romance with Mae West, David Butler and Phyllis Harvey in leading roles.

It has pictures the bizarre and exquisite fêtes which these New York society girls stage to stir their flogged hearts. It has subtle pictures the quiet beauties of Santa Cruz Island or the Pacific Coast, where much of the moving action culminates into a series of oral clowns.

Marion Davies and Pauline Harvey, stars of the day, were new stars to many sets the last of which have never been seen upon the other screen and on the beach, excepting New York.

Miss Harvey, in the "New York" scenes, is the Parisian queen for another. There are one thousand other beauties who display their beautiful bodies with ravishing results.

The New York night life scenes reel off the gay White Way and the hectic cabaret life. The soul stirring scenes of the Pacific Coast serve as a soaring antidote. It is the deft balancing of seafaring living and calm beauty, of Parisian gowns and simple frocks, of beautiful girls and handsome men that contributes to make "The Temple of Venus" one of the most novel and delightful productions ever screened.

"HUMAN WRECKAGE"

Mr. Wallace Reid has been splendidly brave in giving this production to the world. Thinking about the cumulative good that it will do, the picture seems to be destined to be classed among the greatest benefits to humanity. The wife of Wallace Reid showed great courage in dealing with the problem that was hers when her struggle to save the gifted actor first stirred the American public to interest and sympathy. We may be sure that it has not been an easy matter for her to give in picture form the vivid story of the pitiful experiences her son has suffered, her seal in this great cause shining through every glimpse of it. "Human Wreckage" is the most important picture ever made. San Francisco expressed its approval and support in unrestrained applause by the greatest audience that could crowd into the Century. The picture is fascinatingly dramatic from beginning to end.

Tremendous crowds jammed the streets and open spaces around the Imperial Palace and greeted the Prince and his bride as they proceeded by separate routes toward the palace for the ceremony.

FACTORY HOLDS KEY TO SALES

Dodge Brothers Cite Quality Production as Reason for Achievement of One Million Record

There is one factory, at least, in which there is no dispute between sales and production executives as to the relative importance of their departments.

Ask anyone of authority in the sales department of Dodge Brothers, Detroit, which is more important, manufacturing or the job of selling—and you will get an immediate, emphatic answer:

"In our business, manufacturing is all means."

Ever since Dodge Brothers turned out their first motor car, back in 1914, and even before that time, when Dodge Brothers were building parts for other manufacturers, major stress has always been placed on the building of the product, rather than the selling of it.

"Build it well and it will sell itself," was their cardinal doctrine.

Dodge Brothers believed that a product could not survive long unless it was conscientiously built—that the public would always prefer fundamental merit to superficial glamour; that a car with a real reputon for goodness would always find a healthy market, regardless of the whims of fashion.

Dodge Brothers believed that a product could not survive long unless it was conscientiously built—that the public would always prefer fundamental merit to superficial glamour; that a car with a real reputon for goodness would always find a healthy market, regardless of the whims of fashion.

The fact that Dodge Brothers have a product built and sold more than 1,000,000 cars, seems to bear out this contention in an emphatic way. The million mark was reached December 13, 1923—just 9 years and 11 days after the first Dodge Brothers Motor Car left the factory.

Officials explain that this remarkable record is due to the fact that there never has been an "off year" in Dodge Brothers history. Demand has always enjoyed a steady increase. The public, in recognizing the merit of the car, sought it so persistently that the factory was forced to establish a world's record in quantity production.

And yet, with all this expansion, from 50 to 100 a day to a present plant capacity of 1,000, they have never for a moment lost sight of the original ideal. Quality still has preference over quantity.

CONFISCATION BEGINS

The closing of three mills of the Russell-Miller Company in this state is regrettable. But it ought not to be surprising—at least to those who have from the first clearly foreseen the inevitable result of state socialism and have been willing to face the facts.

No more conclusive evidence of the folly of the program is needed than this announcement of a great flour milling company, backed by ample capital. But it must not be taken as the final result of state socialism—it is just the beginning.

What do the people of the state gain and what do they lose?

Take the farmer. There has been hauled to the Russell-Miller mill here wheat from a distance of 30 miles or more, because a wagon market, created by the fact that the wheat is ground here, has resulted often in the farmer receiving a premium on his wheat. He gains the difference between cost of the wheat here and its cost in Minneapolis after being transported 450 miles and handled. The Burleigh county farmers now will lose this. So do the Stutsman county farmers and the Barnes county farmers—many of whom doubtless voted to create the state mill at Grand Forks.

Take the taxpayer. The Russell-Miller Company has paid more than $1,000 annually in taxes here. It has probably paid more on its larger Jamestown mill and its Valley City mill. That is lost. It means the difference must be made up by the other taxpayers. And this is in addition to the load placed on the taxpayers by placing $3,000,000 of non-taxed capital in Grand Forks, in paying interest on the bonds for the state mill, in making up the losses of the plant.

Take the business man. He loses the trade of the employees of the mill.

Take the laboring men. These fellows are deprived of their jobs. Many who have established homes, who are specialists in the milling industry, must sacrifice their homes and become involved in heavy expense moving and seeking work.

Who gains?

No one has got materially cheaper flour because of the state mill. Private initiative is dealt a blow. The only gainer apparently is the city of Grand Forks, and that city may lose ultimately as we shall show. The citizens of that city may find they have sold their principles for a mess of pottage.

The state mill at Grand Forks, at full capacity, can grind enough flour in two-thirds of one year to supply every family in North Dakota for the entire year. This is the statement of experts.

While those who suggested the state mill had visions of the creation of an increased demand for North Dakota wheat, and a consequently increased price, by sales in other states and foreign lands, the manager, C. E. Austin, announced publicly that North Dakota must be considered the logical market for the flour of the state mill. He allowed it to be known that the mill was selling flour at a loss in order to establish a market—a practice of destroying competition for which, by the way, "Big Business" was assailed on the floor of Congress and in the courts.

If the state mill seeks to capture the entire North Dakota market, if it calls upon taxpayers to make up the losses it sustains by selling flour in this state or other states at less than cost, it can and will drive out of business the 40 to 50 small flour mills dotting the state.

The result is plain. Farmers in every section will lose their favorable wagon market and will get less for their wheat; the business men will lose trade; laborers will have to seek other employment; the taxpayers will have a deficit made up.

The city of Grand Forks, which as a distributing center depends largely for its prosperity upon the prosperity of northeastern North Dakota may find its gain in the state mill offset by the blow dealt in its logical trade territory.

The state mill is located on the eastern edge of the state. An example of what this means was pointed out in The Tribune news columns. Suppose the penitentiary uses Grand Forks flour instead of Bismarck flour. The wheat is hauled eastward to Grand Forks and is hauled back as flour—a tribute of 61 cents per barrel is paid the railroads. This will be true in other sections when other small flour mills are closed. The folly of locating the mill at Grand Forks is apparent.

None of the private mills in the state, many of whom are controlled by North Dakota capital, have protested although they have seen their business swept away by the state mill. Yet their property is just as surely confiscated in free America as private property has been confiscated in Soviet Russia.

The plea was made in this state to give the state industries a fair trial. The major political organizations agreed to this program. In view of the losses of the state enterprises, in view of the increasing tax burden they have brought, in view of the latest evidence of what state socialism means, it is not time to say: "We have experimented. We have found the whole thing wrong."

It is slightly more than two years ago since those who took an uncompromising stand against state socialism, who pointed to the inevitable result, were charged with throwing monkey wrenches and with being disturbers of the peace and the welfare of the state. At that time the Nonpartisan League was estopped from plunging the state deep into debt because it could not sell bonds. It was facing ruin because of the continued and gross mistakes of its leaders. If a determined and general stand against state socialism had been taken at the time, if a broad campaign of education had been undertaken, some of the disastrous results of the system might have been avoided.

"Ho, Ho, Missz Cross Patch," said the Riddle Lady next day. "Here is a riddle for you to guess. It's the place where you like to sit and spin. But I never did think you were as selfish as the piece about you says."

"I'm glad you don't," answered Missz Cross Patch gratefully, "for really I just love to have company in tea. I never drink it up and then ask in the neighbors. But what is the riddle?"

"Here it is!" said the Riddle Lady:

"Crackle! Crackle! What am I? Winking with my cheery eye, Beckoning you to come to tea, And sup with pussy-cat and me."

"Pussy purrs the loveliest tunes In the winter afternoons. We don't bother with the weather, We love so to be together."

"And the kettle—you should hear it! I just love to be so near it. Sing away down in his nose, H'm! H'm! That's how he goes!"

"If you come well have some toast. I make that nicely (it's my boast). As I kiss and spark and sputter, Will you please spread on the butter?"

"Old Jack Frost just cannot bear me. But I never let him scare me, As he roars along the street, Nipping kiddies' hands and feet."

"They come in out of the storm And run to me to keep them warm. As I roar and flash and hiss, They know that it's just a kiss."

"In the cook's most trusted friend, I bake things for her without end. But the stove's no place for me, I love the hearth where folk have tea."

"Where pussy purrs and kettle sings, And people talk of many things, And kiddies come and warm their toes, And shake the snowflakes off their clothes."

"I can guess what it is," whispered Humpty Dumpty to Nancy. "But it's a name I don't care to mention. Sometz that is just as bad for an egg as a stone-wall. In fact when the Riddle Lady mentioned toast I had to groan. For it can poach an egg and put it on toast and boast about it."

"Then it is a fire!" said Nancy. "I thought so."

But she said it loud enough for everybody to hear.

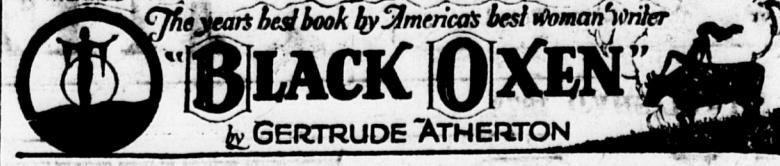

"I was just going to say the answer," spoke up Missz Cross Patch tartly. "And now you've spoiled my chance for a prize."

But just then she caught the Riddle Lady's eye, "I mean," she corrected herself, "that I am very glad you guessed the answer."

"That's right," smiled the Riddle Lady. "And I'm going to give you the prize instead of Nancy. It's a nice copper tea-kettle. Now you can have all the tea parties you want, and invite the Twins."

SYNOPSIS

first name of the woman who was demanding his every waking thought. And she had been out of town and unaware that he had deliberately avoided her. Had taken for granted that he had been polite enough to call—and had left his cards at home.

Should he go? He'd have his breakfast first and do his thinking afterward.

He did ample justice to the breakfast, which was also lunch, read his newspapers, cursed the printers of his own for two typographical errors he found in his column, then called up her house.

Feeling as normal and unromantic as a man generally does when digesting a meal and the news, he concluded that to refuse her invitation, to attempt to avoid her, in short, would not only be futile, as he was bound to respond to that magnet sooner or later, but would be a further confession of cowardice. Whatever his fate, he'd see it through.

He gave his acceptance to the butler, went up and took a brisk walk, returned and wrote his column for the next day, then visited his club and talked with congenial souls until it was time to dress for dinner. No more thinking at present.

Nevertheless, he ascended her steps at exactly half-past eight with the blood pounding in his ears and his heart acting like a schoolboy's in his first attack of calf love. But he managed to compose himself before the footman leisurely answered his ring. If there was one point upon which he was primarily determined it was to keep his head. If he gave her a hint that she had reduced him to a state of imbecility before his moment came—if it ever did!—his chances would be done for—dashed. He looked more saturnine than ever as he strode into the hall.

"Dinner will be served in the library, sir," said the footman. "Madame will be down in a moment."

A tete-a-tete by the fire! Worse and worse. He had been fortified by the thought of the butler and footman. An hour under their surveillance eyes would mean the most impersonal kind of small talk. But they'd hardly stand round the library.

However, the small table before the blazing logs looked very cosy and the imposing room was full of mellow light. Two Gothic chairs had been drawn to the table. They at least, looked uncomfortable enough to avert sentiment. Not that he felt sentimental. He was holding down something a good deal stronger than sentiment, but he flattered himself that he looked as saturnine as Satan himself as he warmed his back at the fire. He hoped she had a cold in her head.

But she had not. As she entered, dressed in a white tea gown of chiffon and lace, she looked like a moonbeam, and as if no mortal indisposition had ever brushed her in passing. Instead of her pearls she wore a long thin necklace of diamonds that seemed to frost her kown. She was smiling and gracious and infinitely remote. The effect was as cold and steady as his morning's icy shower.

He shook her hand firmly. "Sorry, you've been sicky. Hope it didn't lay you up."

"Oh, no. I fancy I merely wanted an excuse to see Atlantic City. It was just a touch of bronchitis and fied at once."

"Like Atlantic City?"

"No. It is merely an terminable line of ostentatiously rich hotels on board walk! None of the grace and dignity of Ostend—poor Ostend as it used to be. The digne was one of the most brilliant sights in Europe—but no doubt you have seen it," she added politely.

"Yes, I spent a week there once, but Bruges interested me more. I was very young at the time."

"You must have been! Don't you like to gamble occasionally?" (God! What banal talk!) "Gambling with life, however, is a long sight more exciting."

"Yes, is it not? Atlantic City might do you good. You do not look at all well."

"Never felt better in my life. A bit tired. Generally am at this time of the year. May take a run down to Florida."

"I should," she said politely. "Shall you stay long?"

"That depends." (Presence of servants superfluous! "Are you fond of the sea?"

"I detest it—that boundless flat gray waste. A wild and rocky coast in a terrific storm, yes—but not the moving gray plains that comes in and falls down, comes in and falls down. It is the mountains I turn to when I can. I often long for the Austrian Alps. The Dolomites! The translucent green lakes like enormous emeralds, sparkling in the sun and set in white walls. A glimpse of pine forest beyond. The roar of an avalanche in the night."

Navy plans to send the airship Shenandoah to the North Pole next spring. Can't go now. North Pole isn't at home. It is spending the winter in the United States.

Only last night the North Pole slept with us. It shook us awake early this morning.

"Hadn't you better go home and get ready for Mr. Denby?" we chattered.

"No," said the North Pole, struggling closer, "the north pole cats are attending to things up there."

Therefore my age is as a lusty winter.

It was not his fault that he did not sleep a still further extension of years and that Hamlet's sword made an end at once of his careful living and wise homilies. ### C. T. U. SERVICES AT INDIAN SCHOOL

The L. T. L. under the direction of W. C. T. officers held an unusually interesting meeting in the Assembly Hall of the Indian School, yesterday afternoon. A group of the L. T. L. members from the city were taken to the Indian school and rendered a short program after being entertained delightfully by the Indian School students with short programs given by the efficient leadership and direction of Miss Nellie E. Dosha, a teacher in that institution. The unusual Valdez L. T. L. has been recently organized at the Indian school and it was gratifying to see how eagerly the girls applied themselves in learning the L. T. L. songs, ditty and catchphrases of the L. T. L. girls rendered several very pretty choruses and Lillian Bell's solo much to credit. A duet by the Peltier sisters was very delightfully given.

Under the direction of Mrs. J. Hughes the Bismarck L. T. L. demonstration or playlet, entitled "Our Nation's Builders" and sang "Our Flag." Rev. Johnson the Baptist church was to have made an address but on account of illness was unable to attend this meeting. The signing of L. T. L. badge was most gratifying to the organizers of this branch of the Legion of the Indian school. Ninety-seven names were signed to the pledge. Quite a number of people from Bismarck enjoyed the program and all were complimentary of the work that has been undertaken at the Indian school under the efficient direction of Mrs. C. W. Smith.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

CONFISCATION BEGINS

The closing of three mills of the Russell-Miller Company in this state is regrettable. But it ought not to be surprising—at least to those who have from the first clearly foreseen the inevitable result of state socialism and have been willing to face the facts.

No more conclusive evidence of the folly of the program is needed than this announcement of a great flour milling company, backed by ample capital. But it must not be taken as the final result of state socialism—it is just the beginning.

What do the people of the state gain and what do they lose?

Take the farmer. There has been hauled to the Russell-Miller mill here wheat from a distance of 30 miles or more, because a wagon market, created by the fact that the wheat is ground here, has resulted often in the farmer receiving a premium on his wheat. He gains the difference between cost of the wheat here and its cost in Minneapolis after being transported 450 miles and handled. The Burleigh county farmers now will lose this. So do the Stutsman county farmers and the Barnes county farmers—many of whom doubtless voted to create the state mill at Grand Forks.

Take the taxpayer. The Russell-Miller Company has paid more than $1,000 annually in taxes here. It has probably paid more on its larger Jamestown mill and its Valley City mill. That is lost. It means the difference must be made up by the other taxpayers. And this is in addition to the load placed on the taxpayers by placing $8,000,000 of non-taxed capital in Grand Forks, in paying interest on the bonds for the state mill, in making up the losses of the plant.

Take the business man. He loses the trade of the employees of the mill.

Take the laboring men. These fellows are deprived of their jobs. Many who have established homes, who are specialists in the milling industry, must sacrifice their homes and become involved in heavy expense moving and seeking work.

Who gains?

No one has got materially cheaper flour because of the state mill. Private initiative is dealt a blow. The only gainer apparently is the city of Grand Forks, and that city may lose ultimately as we shall show. The citizens of that city may find they have sold their principles for a mess of pottage.

The state mill at Grand Forks, at full capacity, can grind enough flour in two-thirds of one year to supply every family in North Dakota for the entire year. This is the statement of experts.

While those who suggested the state mill had visions of the creation of an increased demand for North Dakota wheat, and a consequently increased price, by sales in other states and foreign lands, the manager, C. E. Austin, announced publicly that North Dakota must be considered the logical market for the flour of the state mill. He allowed it to be known that the mill was selling flour at a loss in order to establish a market—a practice of destroying competition for which, by the way, "Big Business" was assailed on the floor of Congress and in the courts.

If the state mill seeks to capture the entire North Dakota market, if it calls upon taxpayers to make up the losses it sustains by selling flour in this state or other states at less than cost, it can and will drive out of business the 40 to 50 small flour mills dotting the state.

The result is plain. Farmers in every section will lose their favorable wagon market and will get less for their wheat; the business men will lose trade; laborers will have to seek other employment; the taxpayers will have a deficit to make up.

The city of Grand Forks, which as a distributing center depends largely for its prosperity upon the prosperity of northeastern North Dakota may find its gain in the state mill offset by the blow dealt in its logical trade territory.

The state mill is located on the eastern edge of the state. An example of what this means was pointed out in The Tribune news columns. Suppose the penitentiary uses Grand Forks flour instead of Bismarck flour. The wheat is hauled eastward to Grand Forks and is hauled back as flour—a tribute of 61 cents per barrel is paid the railroads. This will be true in other sections when other small flour mills are closed. The folly of locating the mill at Grand Forks is apparent.

None of the private mills in the state, many of whom are controlled by North Dakota capital, have protested although they have seen their business swept away by the state mill. Yet their property is just as surely confiscated in free America as private property has been confiscated in Soviet Russia.

The plea was made in this state to give the state industries a fair trial. The major political organizations agreed to this program. It is slightly more than two years ago since those who took an uncompromising stand against state socialism, who pointed to the inevitable result, were charged with throwing monkey wrenches and with being disturbers of the peace and the welfare of the state. At that time the Nonpartisan League was strongest in slumbering the state down into debt because it could not sell bonds. It was facing ruin because of the continued and gross mistakes of its leaders. If a determined and general stand against state socialism had been taken at the time, if a broad campaign of education had been undertaken, some of the disastrous results of the system might have been avoided.

SYNOPSIS

At a first night performance in New York, a beautiful young woman attracts attention by rising and leisurely surveying the audience through her glasses. Clavering, a newspaper columnist, and his cousin, Dinwidde, are particularly interested. Dinwidde declares that she is the image of Mary Ogden, a belle of thirty years ago, who had married a Count Zattany and lived abroad. He is convinced that this is Mary's daughter, but all efforts to establish her identity prove futile.

Clavering manages to meet her, and she finally tells him she is the Countess Josef Zattany, a cousin of Mary Ogden's; that she had married a relative of Mary's husband; that Mary is ill in a sanatorium in Vienna.

Clavering does not believe her story and next time he sees her frankly tells her so. At time goes on he becomes so distraught over the whole affair that he finally goes to see his doctor for advice.

Dinwidde, meanwhile, has been continuing his investigations and makes the suggestion that Madame Zattany is in America under an assumed name, possibly hiding from her husband.

XVII (continued)

True, she seemed more than able to take care of herself, but she was very beautiful, very blonde, very unpretentious, and in that wistful second youth he most admired. He had thought himself the chivalrous son of chivalrous Southerners, excited and not too happy, but convinced, at the height of his restlessness and absorption, that she was but a romantic and passing episode in his life.

"Dinner will be served in the library, sir," said the footman. "Madame will be down in a moment."

A tête-à-tête by the fire! Worse and worse. He had been fortified by the thought of the butler and footman. An hour under their surveillance eyes would mean the most impersonal kind of small talk. But they'd hardly stand round the library.

However, the small table before the blazing logs looked very cosy and the imposing room was full of mellow light. Two Gothic chairs had been drawn to the table. They at least looked uncomfortable enough to avert sentiment. Not that he felt sentimental. He was holding down something a good deal stronger than sentiment, but he flattered himself that he looked as saturnine as Satan himself as he warmed his back at the fire. He hoped she had a cold in her head.

But she had not. As she entered, dressed in a white tea gown of chiffon and lace, she looked like a moonbeam, and as if no mortal indisposition had ever brushed her in passing. Instead of her pearls she wore a long thin necklace of diamonds that seemed to frost her gown. She was smiling and gracious and infinitely remote. The effect was cold and steady as his morning's icy shower.

He shook her hand firmly. "Sorry, you've been sick. Hope it didn't lay you up."

'DEMONS' GIVE FARGO'S TEAM GREAT BATTLE

Locals Lose Out in Last Few Minutes of Play in Fast Basketball Game

FANS CHEER LOSERS

The Bismarck high "Demons" gave the Fargo "Midgets" the battle of their lives at the high school gym here Saturday night. The game, which ended 30 to 27 in favor of Fargo, might have ended either way, for in the last five minutes of play enough baskets were missed by Bismarck players by the narrowest margin to give them the long end of the score.

Fargo, having beaten Mandan 42 to 9 the night before, and characterized by a Fargo sportsman as better than at the time of the state high school tournament last year when the "Midgets" won the state championship, was all set to trample the Bismarck five. Bismarck high fans expected their green team to lose by a good margin.

But the "Demons" didn't go in with this spirit. They went in to win. Capt. Alfonso started the ball rolling with a long field basket and the "Demons" were off. Alfonso and Jesse Scroggins played a fast game and threw baskets from all angles while Jimmy Olson displayed dazzling speed dashes for the basket. At the same time Shepard was smothering Bobby Rusch, whose dribbling upset the Mandan team the night before, and Noddings was holding Fisher, the long forward of the visitors. Bismarck was on the long end of the score, 19 to 13, at the end of the half.

Except for a brief period in the first half the "Demons" completely outplayed the visitors. In the second half Bismarck was unable to hit the basket early, and this permitted the Fargo machine to roll up several points. The score varied by one point several times toward the latter part of the game, with Bismarck and Fargo on the top end at various times. Fargo was leading 28 to 27 a second before the whistle blew and Fisher made it 30 to 27 just as the whistle sounded.

Lividah got in the game in the last few minutes, substituting for Jess Scroggins.

The showing of the green "Demons" was considered remarkable. Each game the team has shown improvement, and local fans now are looking not only toward the district championship but toward a real battle for the state high school honors.

Billy Evans Says

The jinx continues to cling to the world series heroes. The trade recently put over, sending Bill Wambsgans from Cleveland to Boston, marks the passing of the last member of the trio of players who starred in the 1920 classic between Brooklyn and Cleveland. Elmer Smith, who hit the home run, with the sacks loaded, has passed on to the minors. Jim Bagby, released by Cleveland last year, got a chance with Pittsburgh, but near the close of the 1923 season was cast aside as though Bagby was the pitcher who worked the game in which Smith hit the home run with the bases filled and Wambsgans made a triple play unassisted. In the same game Bagby also hit a home run with two on and won his game, 8 to 1, despite the fact Brooklyn made 13 hits.

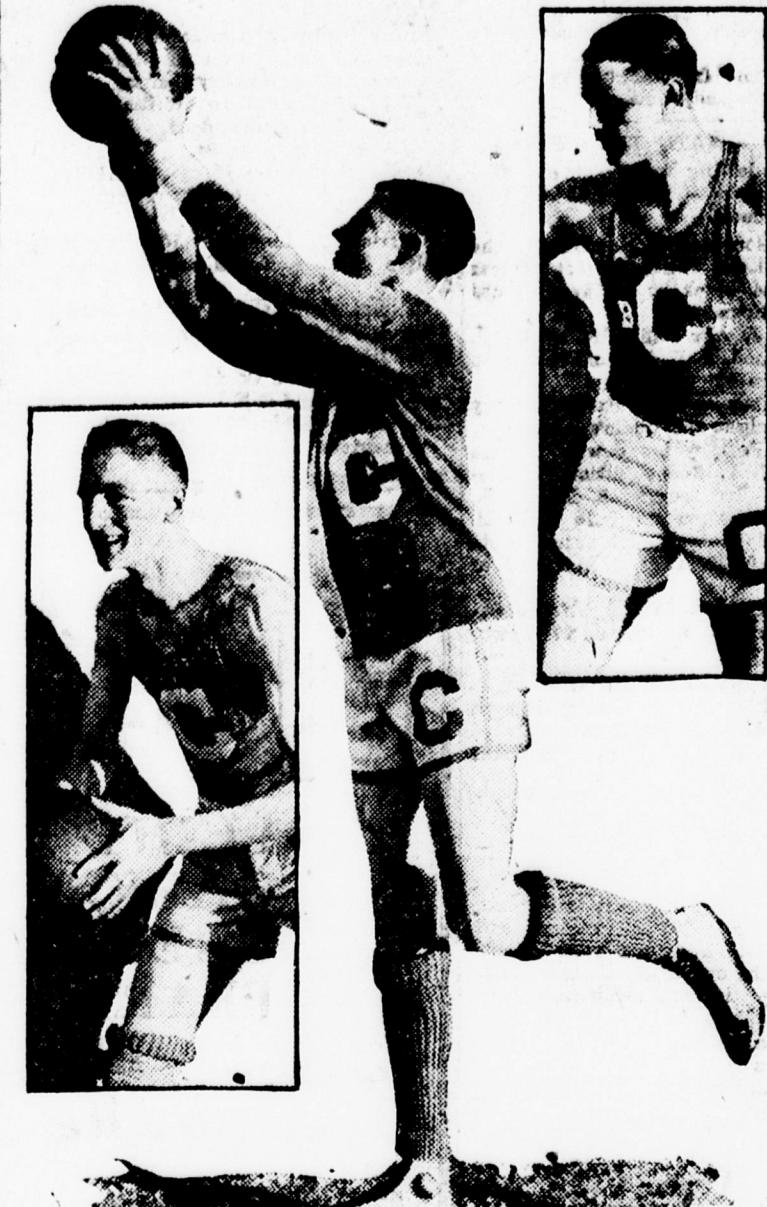

On no club has the world series hoodoo worked as persistently as the New York Giants. Once a member of the Giants goes big in a world series it is regarded as the start of his finish as a member of McGraw's clan.

Back in 1921 Phil Douglas and Jesse Barnes offered the pitching heroes. It wasn't long before Barnes was traded to Boston. Then poor Phil Douglas slipped a bit and was cut loose by the Giants, never more to return to the majors. Less was expected of Douglas and Barnes than any other members of the staff yet both were super-men. Never have I seen better relief pitching than that turned in by Barnes after the Giants seemed to be out of the running. In both cases he came through with a victory and was largely instrumental in the triumph of the Giants.

Johnny Rawlings, at second, gained much fame in one of the clashes with the Yankees. His great stop on Frank Baker, starting a double play that brought the series to a close, will go down as one of the great plays of the classic.

That stop placed Rawlings in the marked-man class, and the next year he was traded first to the Phillies, who later disposed of him to Pittsburgh. Rawlings had served his purpose for McGraw and was passed on. The playing of Frankie Frisch and the securing of Heine Grob kill-

What Notre Dame is to football, dueling, including Nebraska, Notre Dame, University of Omaha is to Dame, South Dakota, Aggies, Marquette and other strong teams, without a defeat.

Two Big Ten quintets, one of them titleholder in the season of 1922-23, have already bowed in defeat before the Omaha quintet, and predictions are numerous and confident that the Blue and White cagers will skin through the remainder of the schedule.

Last fall the veteran Casey Stengel supplied the dramatics. The two victories scored by the Giants recently, the Yankees were made possible by home-run clouts of Stengel. Never has a world series star supplied more color to his stuff than did Stengel.

Hardly had the echoes of the series died away when the announcement was made that Stengel had been sent to Boston along with Dave Bancroft, who was to manage the club. Bancroft has starred in every series he has played. His passing was to enable him to materially better himself. Aside from Stengel, Henry Sullivan was the big star for the Giants. Will the jinx pursue Frisch? It looks as if he is the one player certain to get the decision over old man "Mr. Houdoo."

YANKEES LOSE SKATING RACES

Chamonix, France, Jan. 28.—(By the A. P.)—The United States hockey team scored an easy victory in its first match in the winter sports of the Olympic games today, defeating the Belgian team 19 to 0.

Chamonix, Jan. 28.—Finland, with only three men entered, won first honors in the speed skating events of the 1924 winter Olympic games, which were concluded with a total of 48-1-2 points. Norway was second, Sweden third, and America third, with 11 points. Sweden got one point.

The second game proved to be a real one for the Plaza-Girls held their own until the last few minutes of play. However Underwood girls put forth their best efforts and won the game by the score of 12 to 5. Plaza team is strong but they could not withstand the fast teamwork of the Underwood aggregation. The third game was played at Ryde Friday night with the Underwood girls having played seven games this season without a defeat. The lineup of Clara Gross, Ethel Smith, Irene Engler (Capt.), Maxine Uniph and Helen Heriman is practically the same this year as it was last when they finished the season last year with thirteen victories and no defeats. They were also McLean County's champions last year.

Sarazen came out of the first 36-hole round in San Francisco with a lead of three holes, and this he increased to five during the last 18 holes, checkmating Havers at the end of the sixth-eight hole.

SARAZEN WINS OVER HAVERS

Los Angeles, Jan. 28.—Gene Sarazen, American professional golf champion, defeated Arthur Havers, British open titleholder, 5 up and 4 to go, in a 72-hole match for the unofficial world's professional championship, begun in San Francisco Friday and completed at the Hillcrest Country Club course here Sunday afternoon.

The civil assault damage suit of Mrs. Harry Thompson of Brittin against M. C. Ohls and Mrs. M. C. Ohls of Brittin will go to a jury in district court late today. The plaintiff asks $30,000 damages.

STAGE HAND (to manager)—

Shall I lower the curtain, sir? One of the livin' statutes has the hiccups.

—National Magazine of the Hardware Trade.

The suit is the outgrowth of a fight between the two women on June 20, 1923. There is wide variance in the claims of each side. Mrs. Thompson asserts the assault was without provocation and that severe bodily injuries were caused by Mrs. Thompson's attack. She alleged Mrs. Thompson beat her, jumped up and down on her stomach and struck her repeatedly. The plaintiff also alleged that M. C. Ohls assumed a threatening attitude toward parties at the time, exhibiting a knife and commanding bystanders to make no attempt to stop the fracas.

Mrs. Ohls, on the other hand, through her attorneys, told the jury that Mrs. Thompson began the quarrel by calling her vile names, attacked her without provocation and from behind, and that Mrs. Ohls struck Mrs. Thompson and rendered only such injuries as she deserved for her acts. The defendant's legal defense was that Mrs. Thompson was the aggressor and not entitled to recover.

Attorneys for the defendant asserted that if the quarrel had not attracted unusual publicity because two women were involved there would have been no law suit. The plaintiff is represented by Joseph Coughlan and C. L. Crum, and the defendants by Scott Cameron and J. F. Sullivan of Mandan.

Previously a jury found in favor of the defendant in the case of the C. A. Finch Lumber Company vs. the McConkey Commercial Company and in favor of the plaintiff for $1,326.65 in the case of R. P. Logan against Mrs. G. W. Snyder.

The English House of Lords now has nearly 100 more members than the House of Commons.

PAYS $10,000 FOR RIGHT TO HANDLE YOUNG RING STAR

By NEA Service

Philadelphia, Jan. 28.—Men will gamble on anything. Take Max Hoff, local sportsman and ring enthusiast.

Hoff has just paid $10,000 for a neatly typewritten piece of paper, a legal document which bestows upon him the managerial rights of Ad Stone, a light heavyweight boxer.

In a year or so this piece of paper may be worth more than a million dollars. In little less than two or three months it may be worthless. At present, Stone is a mighty promising prospect—a good gambler. But the best of gambles are unreliable.

Hoff bought Stone's contract from a prior manager following a wordy difference which resulted in the two breaking up.

HAGEN, KIRKWOOD SPLIT

The most celebrated golf team in America, Hagen and Kirkwood, have come to a parting of the ways—a temporary parting at least. Kirkwood has teamed up with MacDonald Smith, the California pro, while Hagen has gone elsewhere to find new golfing glories. Kirkwood is popular on the coast, due to his impressive showing in the California open last winter.

THE CANTER DELUXE

The longest run of the 1923 football season was made by Marks, an Indiana University substitute. Marks sprinted 106 yards for a touchdown in the brush with Hanover. It was the longest dash in several seasons and incidentally ranks right alongside of the greatest pastime has witnessed.

THREE SWIM CHANNEL

Another "impossibility" has dropped to the level of the commonplace—swimming the English Channel. The Underwood Boys Basket Ball team played the Turtle Lake team Friday night and also brought home a victory. The score was 25 to 12 in favor of Underwood. The game was fast and hard fought throughout and was a good exhibition of clean basket ball.

RICH TURF PURSES

The past season was a golden harvest for runners and harness horses. The record sum of $9,500,000 was raced for by the winners in New York and Kentucky tracks putting up the bulk. The Grand Circuit and half-mile tracks hung up $2,000,000 in purses for the boys to shoot at.

PASSING OF MIKE MENOSKY

Mike Menosky, outfielder of the Boston Red Sox, is to pass from the major to a long stay in which he seldom played the role of regular.

Menosky never quite fulfilled expectations for when he first joined the majors he gave promise of being a star. There was one laudable feature of Menosky's play, he always gave his very best.

PINS HOPE IN BOONE

Manager Leo Foh of the Boston Red Sox is pinning much hope on Outfielder Boone to come through for him. Boone, a great hitter in the minors, once received a short trial with the New York Giants. He is one of the biggest men to ever break into the majors, being over six feet and weighing well over 200 pounds.

TO SELL LANDS AGAIN

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 28.—All Stark county lands which in the dependent tax rates of 1918, 1919 and 1920 were sold or declared forfeited to the county, will in the near future be sold for the amount of taxes held against them. This was the decision reached by the county board of commissioners during their regular session adjourned last week.

ELKS MEET AND PARTY

The card parties given by Mandan Lodge B. P. O. Elks and ladies following the regular meetings before the holiday seasons will be renamed again tonight after the regular meeting of the lodge. An important business session will begin at 8 o'clock sharp. Cards will begin at 9 o'clock.

Good in Everything

"But your mother is too old-fashioned, my dear. I'm afraid she'd be awfully shocked at our party."

"She expects to be; that's why she's dying to come." —Life.

ATTORNEYS FOR THE DEFENDANT ASSERTED THAT IF THE QUARREL HAD NOT ATTRACTED UNUSUAL PUBLICITY BECAUSE TWO WOMEN WERE INVOLVED THERE WOULD HAVE BEEN NO LAW SUIT.

The plaintiff is represented by Joseph Coughlan and C. L. Crum, and the defendants by Scott Cameron and J. F. Sullivan of Mandan.

MANY WOULD DIVERSIFY IF GIVEN LOANS

Letters from Farmers Indicate to Take Advantage of Coulter Bill

ARE GOING AHEAD

Many farmers in North Dakota favor the Coulter plan embodied in the Burtress-Norbeck bill under which the federal government would loan $50,000,000 to enable North-West wheat farmers to diversify their farming, according to letter received by C. R. Kositzky, state land commissioner.

General agreement to diversify is contained in letters received by the land department in response to its letters to delinquents stating that most of the delinquencies are traced to one crop farmers and that "it has gotten to a point where it is almost impossible for this Department to assist one crop farmers any more."

Many reply that they are diversifying, others that they cannot do so as much as they wish unless the government loan is made. Extracts from letters received by the commissioner follow:

Farmer from near Antler, North Dakota, Bottineau County, writes:

"I have decided to change my system of farming and start milking cows, raise corn, sheep and hogs, but the banks here are unable to finance us farmers and our only salvation now is the present proposed Coulter loan."

A farmer from near Wing, North Dakota, Burleigh County, writes: "We are trying our best all the time to get more cattle. Got nine cows now, but can not borrow any money to buy more stock."

A farmer from near Sarles, North Dakota, Cavalier County, writes: "We are trying our best all the time to get more cattle. Got nine cows now, but can not borrow any money to buy more stock."

A farmer from near Pilot, North Dakota, Grand Forks County, writes: "You ask if I will agree to diversify. Now I have only six milk cows, but how can I get any more without money? I planted 15 acres of corn last year and let thirty-five pigs hog it down and it sure worked fine. They made two hundred pounds without anything but corn. I am keeping 15 acres and going to put in 50 acres of corn this year."

A farmer from near Bartlett, North Dakota, Towner County, writes: "I have four cows now. Am raising turkeys and the fifty million live-stock loan hills passes, I want to buy a few more cows and sheep. Am going to plant 20 acres of corn, 30 acres of alfalfa and the rest in small grain."

A farmer from near Bedford, North Dakota, Cass County, writes: "If we must pay the interest this year we are unable to go ahead with our farming as we planned. We are changing from neat farming to stock and need all the capital we can get, also we are sowing our land down to alfalfa."

A farmer from near Melville, North Dakota, Foster County, writes: "We expect to pure in considerable corn in the coming season, some sweet clover. Have a few sheep, also a few hens. I have explained conditions and the Board will extend time so that we can get into more feed, stock and hogs."

A farmer from near Denbigh, Henry County, North Dakota, writes:

OUT OUR WAY

MINERS FOR LEWIS REGIME

Ultra-radicals Given Smashing Defeat in Convention

Indianapolis, Jan. 28.—Repudiation of the "ruinous" practice of striking on the job, and a pledge of their "high regard for the "sanctity of contracts" was voiced by the United Mine Workers convention in casting an overwhelming vote of confidence in their leader, and commanding him the second time for disposing the officials of the Nova Scotia district.

Defending his action before the convention, International President John L. Lewis said he regretted he had to stand before the delegates to answer questions put by the deposed Nova Scotia vice president, Alex McIain, who is said to be no longer a member of the United Mine Workers, "but a keeper of a grog shop."

Tonight insurgent delegates who styled themselves "the left wing" drew consolation from the fact that although they had been decisively defeated, their leaders had been given a full hearing by the convention and had gotten an expression of their views into the record. They gathered in their third caucus, heard William Z. Foster, reputed communist leader, and planned further opposition to the administration when the appeals of Alexander Horatt, deposed Kansas president, and Thomas Myerscough, expelled Pittsburgh, Pa., member, are reported to the convention Monday morning by the committee on appeals and grievances.

MRS. MARIE HEUNISCH SHOWING SOME OF HER WORK.

In the morning and keep it up until 4 the next morning. I have found a few hours sleep are all I require. All of my designs are original and I work them out while lying in bed waiting for sleep to overtake me. As soon as I arise the next day I make a rough sketch of the design and preserve it until I can get around to work it out with the needles.

Mrs. Heunisch receives from $100 to $300 for a single piece of work depending on the size and intricacy of the design. She seldom spends more than 10 days on a piece.

She picks away mostly 50 cent heavy kinds, $6.75 Stock pigs largely, $5.75 Fleshy killers upwards, to $7.50 or above.

Sheep receipts, 1,500 Natives slow, strong to 25 cents higher. Best fed western lambs early $12.50 Natives around $2.50 to $12.75 Flockeves, including heavyweights, saleable from $6 to $7.75.

WEDDING GUEST DIES SUDDENLY

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 28. The festive gathering in the Paul Messer family attending the wedding of one of the daughters on Tuesday night, was suddenly changed to sorrow, when Mr. Messer's brother Valentine, Mr. Messer of Dickinson, one of the wedding guests, died very suddenly early Wednesday morning while sleeping in his brother's room.

Mr. Messer, aged about 60 years, was a well known pioneer farmer of Dickinson, ever since coming over from Germany about 20 years ago. He was survived by the widow and a number of children.

The body was shipped to Dickinson and funeral services were conducted at St. Mary's Abbey at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

SUCCESSFUL AFTER FIFTY

MRS. MARIE HEUNISCH, SHOWING SOME OF HER WORK.

By NEA Service

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 28.—At the age of 50, Mrs. Mary Heunisch started a hobby of which she knew absolutely nothing and which has now grown into an unusual business.

That was 20 years ago when Mrs. Heunisch began thinking seriously of her declining years. Her fear of dependence on others, and her dread of inactivity, led her to decide on knitting as a means by which she could get enough money to keep her going the rest of her life.

Knitting then was as unknown to her as was the English language. Knitting then was as unknown to her as was the English language. Knitting then was as unknown to her as was the English language. Knitting then was as unknown to her as was the English language.

"Until I was 50 years old, I had never attempted knitting," she says.

"But I sent to the town of my birth in Germany for an instruction book in knitting, being unable to read English."

"I studied that book day and night for several weeks until I was able to repeat the text word for word. Then I began knitting. My first efforts were discouraging and I was often on the verge of giving up the task. I made 34 attempts to knit a simple little doily and each time failed to attain the standard I desired. One evening, about four months after I had begun knitting, I discovered that at least I had mastered the art and from then on my work showed distinct signs of progress."

"I usually begin knitting about 11

in the morning and keep it up until 4 the next morning. I have found a few hours sleep are all I require. All of my designs are original and I work them out while lying in bed waiting for sleep to overtake me. As soon as I arise the next day I make a rough sketch of the design and preserve it until I can get around to work it out with the needles."

Mrs. Heunisch receives from $100 to $500 for a single piece of work, depending on the size and intricacy of the design. She seldom spends more than 10 days on a piece.

Supreme Court

From Steele County.

State Bank of Finley, a corporation, Plaintiff-Respondent, vs. A. R. Drone, et al., Defendants. S. O. Drone, Dictioner-Appellant.

Syllabus: In a suit by the payee of a promissory note against the makers, it is proper to deny a motion for a directed verdict made at the conclusion of plaintiff's case, when the plaintiff has proved the execution and the non-payment of the note.

2. For reasons stated in the opinion, it is held, that Chapter 91, S. L. 1921, has no application to the facts in this case and that a motion to dismiss, based upon alleged noncomplicity with such chapter, was properly denied.

3. It is held, for reasons stated in the opinion, that the payee named in the note sue on the original note, notwithstanding subsequent renewals thereof, possession of the original note at all times having been retained by the payee.

4. Certain rulings of the trial court upon the admissibility of evidence examined, and for reasons stated in the opinion, held correct.

5. Knowledge of facts acquired by an attorney at law, in his professional capacity, in the course of consultation with a client, is not, under the facts stated, imputed to a bank of which he is vice president, but in the management of which he is entirely inactive.

6. Certain instructions examined, and for reasons stated in the opinion, held correct.

'DEMONS' GIVE FARGO'S TEAM GREAT BATTLE

FANS CHEER LOSERS

The Bismarck high "Demons" gave the Fargo "Midgets" the battle of their lives at the high school gymnasium Saturday night. The game, which ended at 10:27 in favor of Fargo, might have ended either way for in the last few minutes of play enough baskets were scored by Bismarck players to give the home team a margin to have given them the long end of the score.

Long, having beaten Mandan 12 to 9 the night before, and characterized by a longer performance as better than at the time of the state high school tournament last year when the "Midgets" won the state championship, we all set to trample the Bismarckites. Bismarckites had expected to give them a hard time in a good scrap.

But the "Demons" didn't go in the game with their spirit. They went to war, top. Ason started the ball rolling, and a long field basket and the Demons were off. Although it does not seem they played a fast game, the boys took all out, while the Bismarckites displayed dastardly play during the first half of the game.

Except for a brief period in the first half the "Demons" completely outplayed the visitors. In the second half Bismarck was unable to hit the basket early, and this permitted the Fargo machine to roll up several points. The score varied by one point several times toward the latter part of the game, with Bismarck and Fargo on the top end at various times. Fargo was leading 28 to 27 a second before the whistle blew and Fisher made it to 27 just as the whistle sounded.

Lindahl got in the game in the last few minutes, substituting for Jessen-Sorenson.

The showing of the green "demons" was considered remarkable. Each game the team has shown improvement, and local fans now are looking not only toward the district champion but toward a real batsman for the state high school honors.

Billy Evans Says

The jinx continues to cling to the world series here. The trade recently has over, sending Bill Womack from Cleveland to Boston, marks the passing of the last member of the trio of players who starred in the 1926 classic between Brooklyn and Cleveland. Elmer Smith, who'll be the home run, with the socks bunched, has passed on to the minors. Jim Bagby, released by Cleveland last year, got a chance with Pittsburgh, but near the close of the 1927 season was cast adrift through Bagby was the potter who worsened the game in which Smith hit his home run with the bases filled and Womack made a triple play unassisted. In a recent game Bagby also hit a home run with two on and won his game, 8 to 1, despite the fact Brooklyn made 13 hits.

On no club has the world series hoodoo worked as persistently as the New York Giants. Once a member of the Giants goes big in a world series it is regarded as the start of his finish as a member of McGraw's clan.

Back in 1921 Phil Douglas and Joe Barnes offered the pitching heroes. It wasn't long before Barnes was traded to Boston. Then poor Phil Douglas slipped a bit and was sent home by the Giants, never more to return to the majors. Lee was expected of Douglas and Barnes than any other members of the staff yet both were supermen. Never have I seen better relief pitching than that turned in by Barnes after the Giants seemed to be out of the running. In both cases he came through with a victory and was largely instrumental in the triumph of the Giants.

Johnny Rawlings, at second, gained much fame in one of the clashes with the Yankees. His great stop on Frank Baker, starting a double play that brought the series to a close, will go down as one of the great plays of the classic.

That stop placed Rawlings in the marked-man class, and the next year he was traded first to the Phillies, who later disposed of him to Pittsburgh. Rawlings had served his purpose for McGraw and was passed on. The playing of Frankie Frisch and the securing of Heine Grob killed off Rawlings. With the coming of Groth, Frisch was shifted to see and Rawlings was out of a job.

Last fall the veteran Casey Stengel supplied the dramatics. The two victories scored by the Giants over the Yankees were made possible by home-run clouts of Stengel. Never has a world series star supplied more color to his stuff than did Stengel.

Hardly had the echoes of the series died away when the announcement was made that Stengel had been sent to Boston along with Dave Bancroft, who was to manage the club. Bancroft is starred in every series he has played. His going was to enable him to materially better himself. Aside from Stengel, Frankie Frisch was the big star for the Giants. Will the guys pursue Frisch? It looks as if he is the one player certain to get the decision over old man "Mr. Hooch."

UNDERWOOD'S GIRLS' TEAM GOES STRONG

The Underwood High School girls returned Saturday evening from a three days trip. The territory which they visited was new not having played any of the games before so consequently great interest was manifested locally in their outcome. The first game was with the Van Hook girls team but Underwood made no trouble in giving them some fun, the final score being 12 to 5.

The second game proved to be a real contest for the Princeton girls the game until the last two minutes of play. However Underwood put tooth into the contest and won the game by the score of 12 to 5. Pauline Johnson, of Princeton, could not attend the last game of the tour due to the work of the Underwood girls. The third game was played at Bude, Idaho, and with the Underwood team again being victorious to the tune of 12 to 6. Thus far the Underwood girls have played seven games this season without a defeat. The lineup of Clara Gross, Ethel Smith, Irene Engler, Gladys Maxine Upton, and Helen Heimann is practical the same this year as it was last when they finished the season last year with thirteen victories and no defeats. They were also McLean's team's champions last year.

PAYS $10,000 FOR RIGHT TO HANDLE YOUNG RING STAR

By NEA Service

Philadelphia, Jan. 28.—Mon will gamble on anything. Take Max Hoff, local sportsman and ring enthusiast. Hoff has just paid $10,000 for a neatly typewritten piece of paper, a legal document which bestows upon him the managerial rights of Ad Stone, a light heavyweight boxer.

In a year or so this piece of paper may be worth more than a million dollars. In little less than two or three months it may be worthless. At present, Stone is a mighty promising prospect—a good gambler. But the best of gamblers are unreliable.

Hoff bought Stone's contract from a prior manager following a wordy difference which resulted in the two breaking up.

HAGEN, KIRKWOOD SPLIT

The most celebrated golf team in America, Hagen and Kirkwood, have come to a parting of the ways—a temporary parting at least. Kirkwood has teamed up with McDonald and Smith, the California pro, while Hagen has gone elsewhere to find new golfing glories. Kirkwood is popular on the coast, due to his impressive showing in the California open last winter.

THE CANTER DELUXE

The longest run of the 1923 football season was made by Marks, an Indiana University substitute. Marks sprinted 106 yards for a touchdown in the brush with Hanover. It was the longest dash in several seasons and incidentally ranks right alongside as one of the most formidable talents in the country. Indiana has also taken the country by the hand of the Creighton crew.

THREE SWIM CHANNEL

Another "impossibility" has dropped to the level of the commonplace—swimming the English Channel.

The Underwood Boys' Basket Ball team played the Turtle Lake team Friday night and also brought home a victory. The score was 25 to 22 in favor of Underwood. The game was fast and hard fought throughout and was a good exhibition of clean basket ball.

YANKEES LOSE SKATING RACES

Chamonix, France, Jan. 28.—(By the A. P.) The United States hockey team scored an easy victory in its first match in the winter sports of the Olympic games today, defeating the Belgian team 19 to 0.

Chamonix, Jan. 28.—Finland, with only three men entered, won first honors in the speed skating events of the 1924 winter Olympic games, which were concluded with a total of 181-2 points. Norway was second with 251-2 points and America third with 111 points. Sweden got a few more cows and sheep. An going to plant 20 acres of corn, 30 acres of alfalfa and the rest in small grain.

A farmer from near Bedford, North Dakota, Cavalier County, writes:

"We are trying our best all the time to get more cattle. Got nine cows now, but can not borrow any money to buy more stock."

A farmer from near Pilot, North Dakota, Grand Forks County, writes:

"Now as I will agree to diversify.

Now I have only six milk cows, but how can I get any more without money?"

I planted 15 acres of corn last year and let thirty-five pigs hog it down and it sure worked fine. They made two hundred pounds without anything but corn. I am keeping 15 hogs and going to put in 50 acres of corn this year."

A farmer from near Burdett, North Dakota, Towner County, writes:

"I have four cows now. Am raising turkeys and if the fifty million live stock in man hills pass, I want to buy a few more cows and sheep. Am going to plant 20 acres of corn, 30 acres of alfalfa and the rest in small grain."

A farmer from near Bedford, North Dakota, Cass County, writes:

"If we must pay the interest this year we are unable to go ahead with the farming as we planned. We are changing from wheat farming to stock and need all the capital we can get, also we are owing our land down to alfalfa."

A farmer from near Melville, North Dakota, Foster County, writes:

"We expect to put in considerable corn the coming season and some sweet clover. Have a few sheep also, mostly, certified that no part of said land is in crop or to be cropped next year, certifying that no portion of said land is wholly destroyed by hail, cannot be held liable in a civil action by such owner or tenant of the land who may have sustained loss to such crop by hail.

MANDAN NEWS

AGED MAN IS HEART VICTIM

John Lohstrater, aged 68, succumbed Saturday afternoon from a sudden heart attack shortly before three o'clock. Mr. Lohstrater was going to the office of Dr. G. A. Spielman in the Equity Bank building and was stricken just before he reached the top of the stairway.

He was carried up to the doctor's office and lived but a few moments.

Mr. Lohstrater is owner of the Mandan Ranch & Dairy farm, 3 miles northwest of the city but is making his home in the city, having placed the farm in charge of his sons a few years ago.

INVITED TO CHICAGO

Postmaster A. B. Welch has accepted an invitation from the Chicago Historical Society to give an address in Chicago on March 11 taking as his subject the Indian lore of the Missouri Slope territory.

To receive an invitation from this society, which has been in existence since 1856, Mr. Welch considers quite an honor. Such speakers as Stefanson, Arctic explorer, Akeley, of African fame, and many other people connected with such societies as the National Geographic Society and others have appeared recently.

The civil assault damage suit of Mrs. Harry Thompson of Britton against M. C. Ohl and Mrs. C. Ohl of Britton will go to a jury in district court late today. The plaintiff asks $30,000 damages.

The suit is the outgrowth of a fight between the two women on June 20, 1922. There is wide variance in the claims of each side. Mrs. Thompson asserts the assault was without provocation and that severe bodily injuries were caused by Mrs. Thompson's attack. She alleged Mrs. Thompson beat her, jumped up and down on her stomach and struck her repeatedly. The plaintiff also alleged that M. C. Ohl assumed a threatening attitude toward parties at the time, exhibiting a knife and commanding bystanders to make no attempt to stop the fracas.

Mrs. Ohl, on the other hand, through her attorneys, told the jury that Mrs. Thompson began the quarrel by calling her wife names, attacked her without provocation, and from behind and that Mrs. Ohl struck Mrs. Thompson and rendered only such injuries as she deserved for her act. The defendant's legal defense was that Mrs. Thompson was the aggressor and not entitled to recover.

Attorneys for the defendant asserted that if the quarrel had not attracted unusual publicity because two women were involved there would have been no law suit. The plaintiff is represented by Joseph Coughlin and C. L. Crum and the defendants by Scott Cameron and J. F. Sullivan of Mandan.

Precisely a jury found in favor of the defendant in the case of the McConkey Commercial Company, and in favor of the plaintiff for $1,000.00 in the case of R. P. Legan against Mrs. G. W. Snyder.

LINCOLN MAY HAVE KILLED FIRST SPOUSE

Authorities investigating Matter as New Angles Arise in the Case

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 28.—(By the A.P.)—The possibility that Warren J. Lincoln, eccentric lawyer and horticulturist, killed his first wife more than a decade ago has entered his case since his seventh confession last Saturday led to the finding of the head of his second wife and her mother embedded in a concrete block.

That he might have been the slayer of a huge man whose body, minus hands and features obliterated by burning, was found near Lincoln's home also is being investigated.

A third new angle of the case which has kept police here busy many months is the finding in Chicago of a young woman whom he says Lincoln used to have married before she had obtained a divorce.

Developments yesterday tended to strengthen official opinion that Lincoln's income and that the establishment of the corpus delicti through the finding of the heads of Byron Shoup and Mrs. Lincoln have not brought him nearer the gallows but instead have pointed the way toward the state hospital for the criminally insane.

U.S. LOSES SUGAR SUIT

Charged Combine to Force Up Sugar Prices

Washington, Jan. 28.—The government's suit against the New York Sugar and Coffee Exchange, which was charged with operating in violation of the anti-trust laws, was dismissed by the supreme court.

The chief justice, delivering the opinion, said there had been "absolute failure by the government to in any way enchain the defendants, both corporate and individual defendants, with any such conspiracy as was charged by the government."

LOWDEN SPEAKS ON CORPORATION

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 28.—Frank O. Gowden, chairman, and Herman Steen, secretary, of the National Wheat Growers Advisory Committee, are due to arrive in Grand Forks from Indiana at 5:50 Monday evening over the Northern Pacific. Mr. Lowden will deliver an address Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the city auditorium relative to co-operative marketing.

W. Lloyd Keepers, a representative of the national committee, who has arrived here in advance of the meeting, said that Mr. Lowden had been speaking in Indiana relative to the committee's program of promoting co-operative wheat marketing and that large crowds had attended the meetings. He has also been speaking in Kansas, Oklahoma and Colorado. A large number of farmers and others interested in farming throughout the Grand Forks trade territory is expected at the meeting Monday.

Mr. Steen will go from here to Fargo where he will speak Tuesday evening.

Mr. Lowden is former governor of Illinois and is president of the Holstein-Friesian association of America.

MOTHER MOURNS THIRD CHILD'S DEATH IN MONTH

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 28.—With the death of her little daughter, Emily, aged four years and eight months, Mrs. Agnes Hanel is mourning the loss of her third child in less than a month. Little Emily was first taken down with an attack of measles which later became complicated with pneumonia. She was removed to the hospital where her health improved remarkably and she returned home the latter part of last week. After that time she suffered a relapse and passed away last Saturday. Interment was made in the Bohemian Catholic cemetery, a short service being conducted at the grave by Rev. Fr. Svema, of St. Joseph's church.

A brother and a sister, both a little older than little Emily, died from the same illness about two weeks ago. The four remaining children, who were also ill, are now almost entirely recovered.

MARRIED AT 10, MOTHER AT 12

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Married at the age of ten, a mother of two children at 12 and divorced at 13, is the record of Mrs. Florence Albano Sarno, as revealed here when she made application for a license to wed Vito Michaelo D'Alfediano.

Mrs. Sarno gave her age as 30 and the Nick went back on his records to prove that she was married 29 years ago and had two children 18 years ago and was divorced in 1906.

COOLIDGE IN MEETING WITH EUGENE MEYER

Northwestern Situation Discussed by War Finance Corporation Head

Washington, Jan. 28.—The Northwestern credit situation occupied a large place in the attention of President Coolidge today.

Managing Director Meyer of the War Finance Corporation, just returned from the Northwest as a member of the commission, sent to determine what aid the federal government might render, had an engagement to deliver his report and discuss with the executive plans for recapitalization of Northwestern banks.

Conferences also were arranged by Coolidge with Gray Silver, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Representative Leavitt, Republican, of Montana, and a committee of farm organizations; representatives of Representative French, Republican, Idaho, and representatives of the Wheat Growers Association.

Plans for the conference to be held later this week with Northwestern bankers meantime were moved forward by Secretaries Hoover and Wallace.

HIGH SCHOOLS RECOMMENDED

Beware of Imitations!

The high schools of Harvey, Bowdells, St. Thomas and Sarles have been recommended for entrance into the North Central Association and Bottineau high has been recommended for re-entrance by the North Dakota board composed of C. E. Pickett, state high school inspector, chairman; C. C. Schmidt, University of North Dakota; and P. H. Leman, Grand Forks. The application of Drake was received after the board meeting and will be considered later. Graduates of high schools which are members of the North Central Association are admitted to universities and colleges in the 19 states comprising it without examination.

YOUNG WOMAN IS VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA

. Miss Gerda Elizabeth Carlson, 23 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Carlson, rancher in Emmons county, five miles south of the Glencoe church, died at the farm home Saturday. Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Miss Carlson, who was born on August 19, 1900, was superintendent of the Glencoe Sunday school, from which church the funeral services were held. An attack of rheumatism and a bad cold led to pneumonia. The family formerly lived in Burleigh county. She is survived by her father and mother, two sisters and two brothers.

FEW "FLOATERS" IN CITY NOW

There are less "floaters" in Bismarck seeking shelter at the bunk room in the police station than usual this winter, according to Chief of Police Martineau. He declares those that want to work do not seem to have trouble finding it. The rip-rap work on the other side of the river has provided employment for many.

Conferences also were arranged by Coolidge with Gray Silver, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Representative Leavitt, Republican, of Montana, and a committee of farm organizations; representatives of Representative French, Republican, Idaho, and representatives of the Wheat Growers Association.

Plans for the conference to be held later this week with Northwestern bankers meantime were moved forward by Secretaries Hoover and Wallace.
